Cabarete Language Institute welcomes Jessica Mace and Raquel Pellicer

Cabarete, Dominican Republic - Cabarete Language Institute kicked off 2012 with a new director and welcomed a new teacher to its staff.

CLI's new director, Jessica Mace, brings over ten years of project management and program development experience in the field of education to CLI. From 2002 to 2007, Jessica worked in the Dominican Republic with local organizations and communities to develop a solar-powered and community-based program to improve education in rural areas. She lived and worked in several areas of the DR and called Cabarete home for nearly three years. Most recently, Jessica served as the Community Initiatives Director at United Way of Monroe County, where she worked to build community partnerships and coalitions to improve educational outcomes and financial stability in Monroe County, Indiana. Jessica holds a Bachelor of Arts in Spanish and Latin American Studies and a Master of Public Affairs.

Jessica is excited to be back in Cabarete in her new role at CLI. "I look forward to helping people reach their language goals, serving the local community, and expanding CLI's programs."

Jessica said that CLI Founder, Michelle Rahn, was instrumental in helping her assume her new role. "Michelle started CLI from scratch. She built a school that offers high-quality language instruction and assembled a tremendously talented team of teachers."

Now in its fourth year of operation, CLI has expanded its staff and added a fourth teacher, Raquel Pellicer. A native of Zaragoza, Spain, Raquel holds two degrees in education and has experience working with adults and children in different educational programs.

Asked about CLI, Raquel said, "I came to CLI to do what I really like: teach Spanish, meet new people, and discover a different country and culture."

Since its founding in July 2008, CLI has helped more than 350 people from Cabarete and around the world learn Spanish, English and French. In 2012, CLI will continue to offer high-quality, personalized, and interactive language instruction to Cabarete residents and visitors.
